

25 Ways TO Romance Your Husband

1. Tell your husband he looks handsome in front of other people.
2. Praise him in front of the kids. "You'll never believe what your dad did today. He..."
3. Caress his face when you kiss him.
4. Hang a piece of lingerie among his shirts. Pin a note to it that says, "Let me know when you find this and I'll try it on for you."
5. Go back to the place you had your first date and remember when.
6. Place your hand on his leg when sitting beside him in the car.
7. Text him to let him know you're thinking about him.
8. Post a picture of him on Facebook with a hashtag such as #hothubby or #bestdad and make sure to tag him.
9. Thank him for changing the oil in your car, cutting the grass, or any other task you may have taken for granted or simply thought of as his duty as a husband. Let him know you appreciate how he takes care of you and your family.
10. Duplicate your husband's favorite restaurant meal in your own kitchen. Go to www.copykat.com, a site dedicated to providing recipes from some of your favorite restaurants.
11. Find five things he does well and tell him about them. Be specific. For example: "You are a great friend to Tom." "You are so kind to my mom." "You really know how to make our daughter feel special." "You are such a hard worker."
12. Hire someone to mow the lawn on his regular yard work day. Write him a note that says, "I didn't want you to be tired tonight." Draw a smiley face or a heart.
13. Put an "I love you" message in his favorite bag of chips or box of cereal. Make sure this is his personal stash so the kids don't get it.
14. Warm up a towel in the dryer and greet him when he comes out of the shower in the morning. Wrap him with the towel and hand him a cup of steaming coffee.
15. Create a love note by cutting out words from a magazine and pasting them onto a sheet of paper like a ransom note.
16. Find an old lantern that resembles a genie lantern. Tell your husband you are going to grant him three wishes under $100. I suspect at least one might not cost you a dime.
17. Find the most romantic place in your hometown and watch the sunset.
18. Place a chalkboard somewhere in your house and write love notes to him on it. Many gifts shops and craft stores have trendy chalkboards to fit right in with your décor.
19. Challenge your husband to a game of strip checkers. Every time one player jumps and takes the other player's checker, off comes a piece of clothing.
20. Send him a text, an email, or put a sticky note on his bathroom mirror that says, "Yes." If or when he asks you what it means, wink and tell him, "Whatever you want it to mean."
21. Purchase a pack of sticky notes and keep them intact. Write a love note on each sheet and put the entire pack in his desk drawer, briefcase, or by the remote.
22. Send him on a treasure hunt where one clue leads to the next. Let the last clue lead him to you waiting for him dressed in sexy lingerie. Use sticky notes for the clues.
23. Fill one helium balloon for each year you've been married. Attach a love note to the ribbon of each balloon. Place the balloons over your bed so when he comes into the room he sees the cloud of balloons with love notes hovering from the ceiling.
24. Go by his workplace and slip a "ticket" under his windshield wiper. Write the following: "You have been cited for being the sexiest man in the world. Sign it, "Officer (your first name)."
25. Sneak a piece of sexy lingerie into his briefcase, in his work pants pocket, or on the seat of his car for a morning surprise. Don't be surprised if he comes home early.
