

being a GREAT MOM
raising
GREAT KIDS

being a GREAT MOM
raising
GREAT KIDS

sharon jaynes

MOODY PUBLISHERS
CHICAGO

©2000 by
SHARON JAYNES

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form without permission in writing from the publisher, except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles or reviews.

All Scripture quotations, unless otherwise indicated, are taken from the Holy Bible, New International Version®. NIV®. Copyright © 1973, 1978, 1984 by International Bible Society. Used by permission of Zondervan Publishing House. All rights reserved.

Scripture quotations marked NASB are taken from the New American Standard Bible®, © copyright 1960, 1962, 1963, 1968, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1975, 1977. The Lockman Foundation. Used by permission.

Scripture quotations marked RSV are taken from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, copyright 1946, 1952, and 1971 by the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA. Used by permission. All rights reserved.

Scripture quotations marked KJV are taken from the King James Version.

Scripture quotations marked TLB are taken from The Living Bible copyright ©1971. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. Wheaton, Illinois 60189. All rights reserved.

All Scripture quotations marked AMPLIFIED are taken from The Amplified Bible ©1965 by Zondervan Publishing House; The Amplified Old Testament Part One Copyright © 1964 by Zondervan Publishing House; The Amplified Old Testament Part Two Copyright ©1962 by Zondervan Publishing House; The Amplified New Testament Copyright © 1958 by Zondervan Publishing House. All rights reserved.

The use of selected references from various versions of the Bible in this publication does not necessarily imply publisher endorsement of the versions in their entirety.

The story of the lighthouse keeper running out of oil is from Just Like Jesus, by Max Lucado. Copyright 1998, Word Publishing, Nashville, Tennessee. All rights reserved.

"Mama's Plan" by Marion Bond West. Reprinted with permission from Guideposts magazine (Sept. 1998). Copyright 1988 by Guideposts, Carmel, New York 10512.

"The Man Who Thinks He Can," author and original source unknown, is from Victory over the Darkness, by Neil Anderson. Copyright 1990, Regal Books, Ventura, California 93003.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Jaynes, Sharon

Being a great mom, raising great kids / Sharon Jaynes

p. cm.

ISBN 978-0-8024-6532-0

1. Mothers. 2. Parenting. 3. Parenting—Religious aspects—Christianity.

HQ759 .J33 2000

306.874'3—dc21

00-061663

We hope you enjoy this book from Moody Publishers. Our goal is to provide high-quality, thought-provoking books and products that connect truth to your real needs and challenges. For more information on other books and products written and produced from a biblical perspective, go to www.moodypublishers.com or write to:

Moody Publishers
820 N. LaSalle Boulevard
Chicago, IL 60610

1 3 5 7 9 10 8 6 4 2

Printed in the United States of America

To Steven

*Being your mom has been one of God's greatest blessings to me.
You were a great kid,
and I am so thankful for the godly young man you have become.*

Contents

Acknowledgments	9
1. Moms and Blessings	11
Section 1: Be a Beacon
2. An Immovable Landmark	17
3. Glowing Features of a Beautiful Beacon	29
4. Monica: A Beacon of a Mother	41
“The Beacon”	44
Section 2: Be a Listener
5. Listen with Your Whole Being	47
6. Time to Listen	59
7. Susanna Wesley: A Listening Mother	67
“A Mother’s Day Confession”	69
Section 3: Be an Encourager
8. Becoming Your Child’s Chief Cheerleader	73
9. Cheers or Jeers	81
10. You Win Some, You Lose Some	91
11. Catherine Carmichael: An Encouraging Mother	105
“I Have a Mother Who Prays”	108

Section 4: Be a Self-Esteem Builder

12. Joining the Construction Crew	111
13. The Foundation: Unconditional Love and Acceptance	115
14. The Framework: Capable, Valuable, with a Sense of Belonging	123
15. Adding Insulation, Lock, and Bolts	135
16. Nancy Hanks Lincoln: A Self-Esteem-Building Mother “Two Temples”	145 147

Section 5: Be a Seed Sower

17. Tending the Fields	151
18. Sowing Seeds of Scripture and Prayer	159
19. Planting in Season	169
20. Sonya Carson: A Seed-Sowing Mom “Be Careful What You Sow”	179 182

Section 6: Be an Example Setter

21. Someone’s Watching You	185
22. The Fruit Doesn’t Fall Far from the Tree	195
23. Mary Ruth Diffey: An Example-Setting Mom “Little Eyes Are Upon You”	207 211

Section 7: Be Diligent

24. Don’t Give Up	215
25. Don’t Give In	221
26. Give It All to Him	229
27. Ruth Bell Graham: A Diligent Mother “The Warrior”	235 239
28. Just a Mom, You Say	241
29. A Mother Counts Her Blessings	247
A Look at God’s Good Word to Mothers	251
Notes	265

Acknowledgments

*T*he first person to recognize and thank is my husband, Steve. If a Proverbs chapter 32 existed, it would be about him. And Proverbs 32:28–29 would read, “His children rise up and bless him, and his wife also praises him saying, ‘Many men have done nobly, but you excel them all.’” His love and support have spurred me on to birth this book.

I’d also like to thank Lysa Terkeurst, my partner at The Proverbs 31 Ministry. She is my cheerleader, treasured friend, and dear sister in Christ.

I offer special thanks to my mother, Louise Edwards, for being a diligent mom. Our relationship has grown sweeter with each passing year. Thanks also to Glynnis Whitwer for reading over the manuscript and asking good questions.

I thank the staff of The Proverbs 31 Ministry for their love and support. What an awesome group of women the Lord has raised up to touch women’s hearts and build godly homes. A special thanks goes to Greg Thornton and the staff at Moody Press for catching the vision of The Proverbs 31 Ministry and believing we had something to say.

Being a Great Mom, Raising Great Kids
.....

Then there's my editor Janet Kobobel Grant. An excellent editor who can find?—her worth is far above rubies. Janet is a rare and wonderful gem. With a skillful pen, she marks, slashes, moves, and draws smiley faces. I appreciate her diligent commitment to excellence.

Most of all, I'm grateful to the Lord for allowing me the opportunity to encourage mothers and point them to the Savior.

CHAPTER ONE

Moms and Blessings

*H*ave you ever noticed what happens when a television camera pans the cluster of college football players on a field's sidelines? The young men, most of whom are experiencing their first taste of national attention, call out two words. Those words make a woman's heart skip a beat, swell with pride, and melt in a puddle of love. "Hi, Mom!" the guys shout, following the greeting with wild waves and big smiles.

An inexplicable bond exists between a mother and her child. While a child is being knitted together in Mom's womb, the mother's very blood is pumped from her heart to her child's. And even though the umbilical cord is severed in the delivery room, an invisible cord holds them together for the rest of their lives. Elizabeth Stone aptly explained that bond when she said, "Making a decision to have a child—it's momentous. It is to decide forever to have your heart go walking around outside your body."¹

And while the mother's heart is vulnerable to every pang her child experiences, that woman also realizes that God has placed another's soul in her care and given her the privilege, for a few fleeting years, to shape that soul. What will we mothers do with those years? How will we invest the time? Who can help us to know what to do?

Being a Great Mom, Raising Great Kids

.....

I've often been interviewed in my role as a spokeswoman for The Proverbs 31 Ministry. Frequently I'm asked if I think the wife of noble character described in Proverbs chapter 31 is one woman or several women pooled together into a depiction of some sort of supermom. Interviewers also ask if I think the verses exemplify a typical day for Mrs. Worth More Than Rubies or a lifetime of accomplishments. I believe that she is one woman and that the listing of her achievements spans her life. Verse 28 leads me to those conclusions: "Her children rise up and call her blessed" (RSV).

I don't know about you, but I haven't heard many preschoolers bless their mothers for devoting arduous hours to potty training, for washing a favorite Mickey Mouse T-shirt, or for staying up all night cleaning throw-up. A child is more likely to rise up and call his or her mother blessed when that child is a young adult and realizes the sacrifice, hard work, undaunted love, tender affection, and wisdom that Mom has poured into his or her life for eighteen to twenty-five years. And sometimes that realization doesn't come until a child has a child of his or her own.

When I became a mother, I wondered what exactly the Proverbs 31 woman did to cause her children to rise up and bless her. To find some answers, I've observed mothers through the years, listened to what grown children have to say about their mothers and prayed that God would give me wisdom in raising my own child. Being a Great Mom, Raising Great Kids consists of seven mothering characteristics I've seen again and again in blessed mothers.

King Lemuel's mother, who wrote Proverbs 31, started each verse with a letter of the Hebrew alphabet to help her son remember the essential elements of a model wife and mother. In keeping with that teaching style, each of the following seven sections begins with a word formed from a letter of "B-L-E-S-S-E-D." In each section, I've included some practical ideas to help you implement the specific quality discussed and a story about a mother who expressed that quality well. And at the end of the book, you'll find fourteen Bible studies, two for each section. These studies will help you seek the Lord for ways He wishes to affirm you as a mother and for ways you could make some adjustments. You might want to gather together a group of other mothers who long to hear their children call them blessed.

Moms and Blessings

My prayer for you, dear mother, is that you will not grow weary in doing good, but that this book will encourage you to keep doing what you do well and to make alterations in areas that need improvement. Most of all, I, like you, pray that one day your children will rise up and call you blessed.